A DAY AS LORD TAYLOR.

This month welcomes three new interns:

Fausto di Girolamo from Rome. Fausto has played an active part in Italian politics and wants to study the UK political system.

Elizabeth Hodges from Oxford. Liz has just completed her MA at King's and is interested in becoming a political speechwriter.

Alexandra Wilkinson. Alex grew up in Hong Kong and wants to work in political communications.

Liz and Alex with Dr. Haim Koren (the former Director of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Israel). Dr. Koren gave a fascinating lecture about Arab language media and extremism in Parliament.

Fausto joined the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra in the House of Commons.

The event was hosted by MP Jane Kennedy. He learnt about the "Music for Life" project which promotes music to children across the UK.

In the Spotlight!

We like to keep in touch with past interns, to see what they have been doing since leaving WLF. This month, we are featuring Edwin Atiegoba-Bello.

Edwin graduated from university this summer with a degree in Political and International Studies. He is now pursuing a career path in Foreign Affairs and is looking forward to the wide travel opportunities this will bring Life Imitating Art.

Liz with West Wing actor Ron Silver in Parliament

Liz was thrilled to meet with Ron Silver, the actor who played Bruno Gianelli in the acclaimed American TV series The West Wing.

Mr. Silver, who is politically active in real life, spoke about the parallels between the fictional U.S. presidential candidate, Matthew Santos, and the real life presidential hopeful Barack Obama.
