

Dear Friend ,

2013 was a very eventful year for the Taylor Team. We are confident that 2014 will be even better! We wish you a very Happy Christmas and a Prosperous New Year!

Blessings,
Lord Taylor of Warwick

Upcoming Book Publishing

I am looking forward next year to the publication of my new book, 'Winning the Race'. It is a celebration of diversity in our multi-racial, multi-cultural society. Here are just a few of the inspirational personalities I interviewed during 2013!

It was a real pleasure interviewing Ainsley Harriot; a larger than life personality who I shared a good number of laughs with that day. Unfortunately I did not have a chance to sample any of his delicious cooking that day. Hmm... perhaps this will be the motivation I need to write another book!

I had the honour of meeting Pastor Jim Wallis (spiritual advisor to President Barack Obama), a man after God's own heart and passionate about social justice – aspirations we have very much in common.

What a character! It was such a joy to spend the afternoon with Levi Roots, famous through Dragons' Den and Reggae Reggae Sauce.

Other Inspiring Personalities

In addition to preparing for my book, I have had the delight of meeting so many other remarkable people this year. If you recognise any of these characters, you should drop me a tweet or send me a message on Facebook . It would be interesting to see who gets spotted!

Nelson Mandela

The passing of Nelson Mandela earlier this month has shaken the world and stirred the hearts of many. I still have vivid memories of meeting Madiba for a private lunch, when he was President of South Africa. What struck me most was his utter humility and willingness to encourage others. His life is one that has impacted mine on a personal level and his legacy has touched millions more. He was an amazing man, but his spirit lives on.

Closing

If you have not done so already, please keep in touch with me on Facebook and Twitter. I love hearing from my friends; our collective stories are the narrative that drives humanity to greater heights and I can't wait to hear yours. So, please click on the interactive symbols below! Have a blessed holiday season, and I look forward to seeing you all next year!